Biographical information

John C. Saint was born on March 7, 1820, in Winchester, Clark County, Kentucky. On November 21, 1844, he married Mary Harriet Kyser (also recorded as Kiser), who was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, on September 5, 1827. She was the daughter of Rev. James Kyser, an intimate friend, neighbor, and co-worker with Rev. Alexander Campbell (1788-1866) in organizing the “Disciples of Christ”, later called the “Christian Church”. In 1845, the Saints moved to Memphis, Tennessee, but, after a short stay, removed to Texas where they remained until 1848, when they returned to Memphis and settled permanently.

John Saint began buying and selling real estate in which business he amassed a large fortune. During the Civil War, a thousand bales of his cotton were burned to prevent their being appropriated by the Federal Army. Being a large slave owner, he took refuge farther south for the better protection of his slaves. At the end of the war, he and his family returned to Memphis to successfully rebuild his lost fortune. He was a generous contributor and prominent factor in organizing and building the Linden Avenue Christian Church, of which he was an honored deacon for many years.

Having to pay many security obligations and meeting other financial reverses, he sustained losses from which he was unable to recover. After his wife died on October 6, 1900, Saint made little effort to resume business. In October 1903 he was visiting Winchester, Kentucky, staying at the house of his cousin Floyd Day. He contacted a cold which became pneumonia and he died in December. Saint’s remains were returned to Memphis and he was buried beside his wife in Elmwood Cemetery.

Scope and contents

The collection contains correspondence, tax records, receipts, deeds, etc. pertaining to the business activities of wealthy Memphis entrepreneur John C. Saint, before and after the Civil War. The correspondence includes both business and personal letters concerning the operation of his cotton business and routine family and social matters. The business papers which follow include tax records, receipts, deeds, and blueprints to his property as well as several grocery orders for his family and a three-dimensional drawing of a washing machine, circa 1870. See folder 11 for genealogical information about the Saint family. All subjects are arranged chronologically within each folder.
Provenance

The collection is part of the archives and collected papers of the West Tennessee Historical Society (WTHS) housed in the Preservation and Special Collections Department. Funds for processing the holdings of the WTHS came in part from a grant from the National Publications and Records Commission, which were matched by the WTHS.

These papers were at one time apparently part of the Woodson Family Collection. Saint was related to the Woodson's by marriage. From the evidence available, both collections were deposited with the WTHS in the early 1950s by Dr. Alice Woodson Cameron, granddaughter of John C. Saint. The Woodson and Saint Collections were later separated.
